the secret of kells

The delightful animated story of an Irish abbey, an attack by Vikings and the legendary Book of Kells. Brendan, the 12 year-old nephew of the Abbott is tasked with using his newly discovered illumination skills to complete the magnificent work. To do so, he must confront his most intense fears and leave behind the abbey walls.

the white ribbon

Austrian filmmaker Michael Haneke photographed his drama in black and white, subtly emphasizing his message. A form of ritual punishment at a rural school in northern Germany in 1913 has major consequences for students, faculty and family. This punishment, however, may have had repercussions beyond the German school system--perhaps even contributing to the growth of fascism.

ajami

A bold crime drama set in Ajami, a neighborhood of an Arab ghetto in the Israeli city of Jaffa. Living together on these margins are Palestinian illegal immigrants, Israeli Arabs, Christians and Jews, and crime often becomes circular. Working largely with a cast of non-actors, Copti tells a story of bothers, families, friends, culture and conflict with distanced compassion and uncompromising realism.

the mad adventures of rabbi jacob

Victor Pivert is a loving man—as long as the object of his affection is Caucasian, French and Catholic. When it comes to foreigners, Victor is as bigoted as they come. So it's poetic justice when, on the day of his daughter's wedding, Victor bumbles across a group of Arab revolutionaries and is forced to go into hiding—as a rabbi. Oy vey!

a town called panic

Think you're the only one with problems? Well, animated plastic toys like Cowboy, Indian and Horse have problems, too. Cowboy and Indian's plan to surprise Horse with a home-made birthday gift backfires when they destroy his house instead. Surreal adventures take over as the trio travel to the center of the earth, trek across frozen tundra and discover a parallel underwater universe where pointy-headed (and dishonest!) creatures live.

Thiago begins, little by little, to gain understanding about the adult world, something he couldn't comprehend before, but is that understanding worth the price he has to pay?

freedom's fury

The story of the infamous 1956 water polo match between Hungary and the Soviet Union, a contest later dubbed "the bloodiest game in Olympic history." Just two weeks before the start of the Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, the Soviet Union had effectively silenced a popular uprising in Budapest—an action that only fueled the Hungarian players' passions come game time. Includes some graphic newsreel footage.
